REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims as amended stand rejected under 35 USC 103 as prima facie obvious from the combination of references to Zhu and Krepski et al. The specific claimed ink, however, is considered patentable over these references and all the closest prior art as cited. Reference to Zhu makes reference to polyurethane binders generically in the paragraph which reads:

Examples of other binder resins will be organic resins as commonly used in ink jet printer ink compositions, and include, for example, silicone resins, rosin esters, polyvinyl esters, ketone resins, urea aldehyde resins, vinyl chloride/vinyl ether or vinyl acetate copolymers, polyamide resins, styrene/maleate resins, polyvinylpyrrolidone resins, vinyl pyrrolidone/vinyl acetate copolymers, polystyrene resins, melamine resins, thermosetting acrylic resins, polyurethane resins, and radiation curable acrylate resins.

2. These "binder resins" are taught as alternative possibilities to the acrylic resins preferred and exemplified.

3. Krepski et al mentions that coatings in general can be used on many substrates. Included in the list in the background discussion is paper. The specific compositions of the invention in Krepski et al, however, is taught to possess reduced water uptake, which is taught to be beneficial for a list of substrates that does not include paper. These considerations, as well as the specific silyl-terminated sulfopoly(ester-urethane) required by the claims for the specific ink-jet composition renders the claims neither anticipated nor prima facie obvious from the closest prior art as cited.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
